Gettysburg Barnstormers—EAA Chapter 1041

Henry's Hangar

By Henry Hartman

Merry Christmas, Barnstormers!

Even though this year of 2020 has mostly been one we would like to forget, I'm very happy to tell you we are ending the year on a really high note. Please join me in congratulating our newest Private Pilot, Liam Dwyer, who completed his training and passed his checkride on Nov. 24th. We also want to congratulate and thank Instructor Michael Cooper-White for giving Liam his start and seeing things through to obtaining his PPL. Great job, guys!

Speaking of young people doing fine things in aviation, our December meeting program will be of interest to everyone. Several years ago, David Pape was one of our Air Academy campers; he went on to get his Private Pilot License, and now he will tell us all about getting his Instrument Rating. Look in this issue of The Observer for more details.

You heard right, we are having a December Chapter meeting. This is not what we typically do; we usually forego a December meeting in favor of our annual Christmas Party. With things being as they are, the membership has opted to hold a "Dutch treat" afternoon meal at Hoss's in Gettysburg on Sunday, Dec. 20th at 1:00 pm. At the time of this writing, nearly 30 people have signed up for this event. Contact me if you would like to be added to the list.

Recently the office at EAA sent our annual Chapter Renewal. That process is underway and will likely be completed by the December meeting. The Chapter has also received the annual awards that we usually hand out at the Christmas Party; instead we'll try to do that at the December meeting. 'Stormer Claus might also show up with his usual bag of gifts, so please be there for all the fun.

As we finish out another year, I want to sincerely thank each and every member of our Chapter for your support and participation in 2020. It's been a most unusual year, we did not have either of our popular breakfast events, but we did have good attendance for most meetings, the summer picnic, and our very successful Young Eagles Day in November.

Peggy and I would like to wish all of you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Let's all pray that 2021 allows us to get back to our usual routines and activities. Thanks again for helping to make 2020 as good as we could!

Henry

The December meeting will feature a presentation by David Pape , son of member Jason Pape. David recently completed instrument training and provides this insight concerning his experience. “The instrument rating is a lot more than just flying in clouds. There are many other valuable things that can come out of the rating. This presentation will discuss some of these benefits. “

Volunteers are needed for the refreshment committee. There will be a sign-up sheet available at December Meeting. You may volunteer to provide refreshments for one meeting or several meetings. Cost is covered by The Chapter.

If you want refreshments at the meeting please volunteer!

Book Review

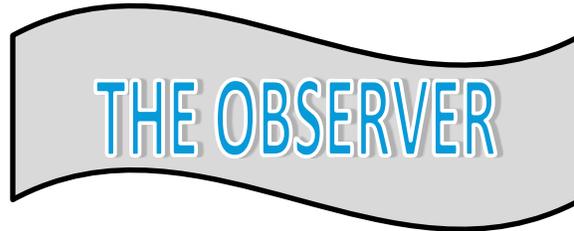

We Killed Yamamoto: The long-range P-38 assassination of the man behind Pearl Harbor, Bougainville 1943 (Raid) Paperback — August 18, 2020 by Si Sheppard (Author), Edouard A Groult (Illustrator), Adam Tooby (Illustrator)

This study explores, in fascinating detail, the story of how the skill of codebreakers and fighter pilots terminated the career of Admiral Yamamoto--and the subsequent controversy over who fired the fatal shots.

This new title analyses the origins, implementation, and outcomes of Operation Vengeance, the long-range fighter interception of Admiral Yamamoto's transport aircraft that sent him to his death on April 18, 1943. Author Si Sheppard examines every angle of the operation in detail, including the role of intelligence work in pinpointing the time and location of Yamamoto's flight, the chain of command at the highest level of the US political and military establishment who ordered the attack, and the technical limitations that had to be overcome in planning and conducting the raid. It also provides a close study of the aerial combat involved in completing the mission, offering a holistic exploration of the operation which avenged Pearl Harbor.

Liam Dwyer Aces Checkride by Michael Cooper White

Two days before Thanksgiving, Liam Dwyer became the newest Gettysburg Barnstormer private pilot. “Liam passed his practical test (checkride) with flying colors,” said his instructor, Michael Cooper-White. Liam expressed his thanks to the Barnstormers for the $3,000 scholarship that covered the cost of a major portion of his training.

The checkride took place at York Airport (THV) with Heskell Burnstein of Harrisburg Pilots as the designated examiner. Burnstein was named Flight Instructor of the Year by the FAA Harrisburg FSDO in 2017. He praised Liam’s airmanship following the five-hour oral and flight test.

The first hour of the experience was consumed correcting an error on the 8710 application form. Confused when only six Cessna aircraft options appeared in the window for the aircraft, Liam and Mike chose the first one, which turned out to be a helicopter! When all efforts to change it in the application failed on the morning of the checkride, Liam quickly filed a new application, which cleared him for takeoff on the oral.

If anyone thinks examiners just glance at logbooks, this checkride proves that’s not the case. Inspecting N8867’s engine logbook, Heskell didn’t find the magic words “annual inspection” in the entry for the current year. Mike pointed out the phrase appeared in the aircraft logbook, but Heskell said, “I usually see them both places.” Mike ran to a computer and within a few moments produced a letter from the FAA’s chief counsel stating that since an engine is attached to an aircraft, it does not have a separate annual inspection and the magic words should appear only in the latter’s logbook. Heskell responded graciously, “I never knew that before.” This examiner embodies the spirit that every aviation event, including a checkride, should be a learning event for all concerned.

As Mike watched from the THV terminal building, the duo sat still for several minutes after engine startup. Worried Liam had forgotten to remove chocks or how to release the brakes, Mike was reassured post-flight that he was just giving Heskell a thorough preflight passenger briefing and telling him, “Keep your hands and feet off my controls, sir.” Little things mean everything on a checkride.

Once airborne, Liam set off on the assigned cross country toward Wilkes Barre. He headed in the right direction long enough to convince Heskell he knew where he was going. After that, all the required maneuvers were performed with near perfection. Under the hood, Liam recovered unusually ably from the dreaded unusual attitudes. Back at the landing strip, Mike was watching everything on Flightradar, pleased to see the altitude never varied more than 100 feet. Until it did, as Liam coped with the mandatory “forced landing” scenario. Convinced he had the chosen field made, Heskell wisely decided not to risk a farmer’s ire and encouraged Liam to climb back up and head homeward.

The feisty red-and-white Cessna 150 then made several trips around a very busy THV traffic pattern on a sunny afternoon when a bunch of pilots were out for one of their last flights of the fall season. Short- and soft-field T/O’s and landings were followed by a go-around and a final “normal” landing right on the numbers. Watching this all from the ramp, Mike muttered to himself one final time as he had done so often flying with “learner Liam” (the FAA no longer uses the phrase “student pilots”) the past couple of years, “Darn, I hate it when he flies better than I can.”

A big Congrats to Liam! And from Liam, his family and CFI, “Thanks▲ for all your support, fellow Barnstormers!”
