How a tree accelerated the completion of my SLING 4

Craig had been interested in flying since the early 70s, but with the usual "life getting in the way", he didn't get his license until 2012 at Minute Man Air Field. After that, he knew he wanted to own an airplane, so he considered all his options and ended up building a Sling 4 experimental aircraft. Craig's presentation will cover the whole journey, with all the highs and lows.
