Paul Poberezny Memorial Set for Sunday Before AirVenture

Join in celebrating the life of Paul Poberezny on the Sunday before AirVenture at the Memorial Wall.

July 10, 2014 - The night before AirVenture's gates open on Monday morning, July 28, before throngs of aviation enthusiasts immerse themselves in the World's Greatest Aviation Celebration, a brief, solemn ceremony will be held to honor the man who made it all possible.

EAA Chaplain Pastor Ed Riddick will lead the celebration of the life of EAA Founder Paul H. Poberezny, who passed away last August at age 91. The ceremony will begin at 6 p.m. on Sunday, July 27, at the EAA Memorial Wall. Also making remarks will be EAA Chairman Jack Pelton, and the ceremony will feature a missing man formation flight led by EAA's B-17 Aluminum Overcast accompanied by P-51 Mustangs. The approximately 30-minute ceremony will be standing room only and is open to all EAA members.

Help Build an Airplane at EAA AirVenture Oshkosh 2014

EAA is the home for those who build and restore aircraft and at EAA AirVenture Oshkosh 2014, tens of thousands of attendees can share the building experience through the "One Week Wonder" project - assembling a Zenith CH 750 kit aircraft during the seven-day convention.

The goal is to completely construct and taxi test the aircraft by the end of the weeklong event beginning on July 28 and continuing through completion or the event's final day on August 3.

"We want people to discover that building an airplane is not that complicated and within the reach of just about anyone by watching this project take shape during the week and participating in it themselves," said Charlie Becker, EAA's manager of homebuilt programs. "This Zenith kit will arrive at Oshkosh just as any builder would receive it. The One Week Wonder will show how today's advanced kits and technology make aircraft building accessible and affordable, especially with the support from many EAA programs and members. "It's a fun, interactive opportunity that will show thousands of people exactly how an airplane goes together."

The One Week Wonder project will also allow EAA to showcase how a person can build their own airplane, the technical achievements along the way, and EAA support programs for aircraft builders. AirVenture attendees will be able to add their own "hands-on" moment in the construction project and sign the logbook as one of the builders.

In the One Week Wonder display area, which will be located near the EAA Welcome Center in the main crossroads of the AirVenture grounds, other displays will include the completed Zenith CH 750 built by EAA employees - including many who had never built an airplane previously. There will also be interactive displays that highlight the aircraft construction process, the variety of aircraft available for builders, and information on getting started on an aircraft project.

- I am shopping for a Light Sport eligible aircraft located in the Wisconsin or nearby surrounding area—something we can use through the upcoming summer flying season. We do presently have a Taylorcraft, but it needs some rebuilding and won't be ready to fly for at least a year. So, we are looking for a solid, airworthy Light Sport eligible airplane that doesn't need any or much work. Types we have been considering: Aeronca Chief, Taylorcraft, Luscombe, Ercoupe, Rans S6, Kit Fox 4, Zodiac 601 XL-B and others. They are cabin types and side by side. (We have two young grandchildren we would like to introduce to flying.) Randy Noak EAA #57117, Tech Counselor, A&P, IA, 541 Bowen St., Oshkosh, WI (920) 426-2763 classiair.novak@gmail.com
