

EAA Ultralight Chapter 75

North Central Wisconsin Lite Flyers

Editors Notes

by Bill Markstrum

I guess we never quite out-grow those days of youth when there was homework to be done but it had to wait for one more hour while we played with the new toy or the weather was so nice you just couldn't come in until dark. That was my case tonight. The weather was perfect and most of our Wausau airport based members were buzzing over the house. I just had to go "hangar fly" with them. I'm afraid when I have my own wings again the lure will be even greater. You guys get out and enjoy these beautiful evenings. I'll join you later.

It's pretty obvious that summer is just around the corner because chapter activities have picked up several RPM. The May chapter meeting was held at John Verfuert's in Spencer. I wasn't able to attend that meeting but all reports indicated John was, as always, a gracious host with fine accommodations and food in abundance. The field was a bit muddy but it didn't hamper the flying too much. Later in the day the wind picked up and we're sorry to report that Greg Steven's LJJ "re-kitted" itself as model airplane flyers are wont to say after a crash). The wind rocked it from wing tip to wingtip and then flipped it over, doing a lot of damage. Fortunately it didn't hit any aircraft near it. We're sorry for your loss, Greg, and I'm sure I can speak for all of our chapter members when I say, "how can we help?". Our Videographer Ron Detert, was taping at the time, but his camera was on some other activity. It would have been too painful to watch anyway!

We are the planes and people that are bringing grass-roots flying back to the younger generation...

As vulnerable as our ultralights are to wind gusts and prop blasts, perhaps we should adopt the Oshkosh policy of always securing our aircraft between flights. Two or three screw tie-downs and a few lengths of rope add very little weight to your flight kit and might save you and the adjacent aircraft a lot of grief and money. I know tie-downs were an absolute must at Pioneer Field last Saturday. Without them the ultralights would have been stacked against the wall of Fergus Chapel like tumbleweed against a barn on the Texas prairie.

While I'm giving advice, let me add this bit. It seems the people who brought 'ol Ron to the dance (at Spencer) done left for home without him and he and his camera had to hitch a ride home with someone else! Never, I repeat, never do that because someday he'll catch you on tape in a compromising situation. Payback time!

Last Saturday, June 1st, most of our guys flew down to Pioneer Field at Oshkosh for the big P.R. event, "EAA's Family Flight and Balloon Festival". It's an honor that we are invited to these major events at EAA. We are the planes and people that are bringing grass-roots flying back to the younger generation that only know of aviation as unromantic, "get there fast" jumbo jets. Thank our own Steve Krueger and EAA's Tim Bogenhagen for getting us involved.

I was still in bed on Saturday morning when I heard the Squadron 75 "Dawn Patrol" leave for Oshkosh. Ron and I had to leave later with our ground support van and equipment with Mary Kerstein "flying" cover for our battleship on the trailer behind the van. Apparently all aircraft had a pleasurable flight into Oshkosh with clear and calm skies. The usual flight pattern was followed, fuel stop at Wild Rose, then on to Omro for staging and briefing before the final descent into Pioneer. Now I'm not one to tell tales out of school so you'll have to ask Flight Leader Kapitan Krueger why the Wild Rose airport people were so "de-lighted" when he took off for Omro.

Tons of spectators showed up at Oshkosh on a beautiful sunny day. Unfortunately, as the day advanced, the winds increased until the only aircraft left flying were a helicopter and the ponderous Ford tri-motor. It was certainly not balloon or straw hat weather and most of us bald eagles have sun-burned heads to prove it. While the daylight hours were a wipe-out as far as flying is concerned, a trip to Pioneer is always fun; old friends and old airplanes to get reacquainted with, free food and commemorative tee-shirts. And how often can you be elbow to elbow with and talk to Dick Rutan at lunch? I don't know whether Steve Krueger got to talk with Dick or not. He wanted to ask the expert "fuel stretcher" how to get an ultralight from Wausau to Oshkosh without refueling. The answer I would expect: "Whaaat?"

The battleship Porkchop and trailer along with marker paint, beanbag bombs and rubber torpedoes are already in a hangar at Pioneer so we look forward to seeing you ground support troops and bomber pilots there on fathers day weekend.

This week I visited the almost completed new hangars of Steve Krueger and Pat Heckert at the Merrill airport. Looking good guys, can't wait for the dedication party(s)!

I've got to cut this off and get on with helping a fellow chapter member with his project. Bobby Payzer's Rans S-7 "Courier" is almost finished and I volunteered to paint and label his instrument panel. The weather is perfect for painting and gluing and I'm sure, across town, Ron Detert is T-88ing his Mini-Max components and spar varnishing the almost complete fuselage.

See you at Pioneer!

May 2002 NCWLF Minutes

Our May meeting was held at John Verfueth's field in Spencer on May 18th. The meeting was called to order by Steve Krueger at 10:45 am followed by an introduction of members and guests. The secretary and treasurer's reports were approved as read.

Old Business:

The deadline for the "Vision of Eagles" sweepstakes is today, May 18th, and everyone held their breath as Steve Krueger was declared the winner! A chapter service award was presented to Ron Detert as our club videographer. Chapter EAA work party information is available from Steve Krueger.

New Business:

Dues are due for the 2002 - 2003 year. Last month, nominations for offices were held. All officers agreed to continue serving current positions. See Steve Krueger if you want more information about the EAA book and video sale. A balloon fest will be held at Pioneer airport on June 1 & 2 and ultralights are encouraged to attend-see Steve Krueger for details. Pioneer Days event

Ultralight Day at EAA Pioneer Airport

Once again EAA is sponsoring Ultralight Day at Pioneer Airport in Oshkosh on Saturday, June 15. Rain date is Sunday, June 16. Ultralight day is designed to attract visitors to the museum and to share the experience of Ultralight aviation. It is not a Fly-in. Pilots must be briefed and invited to attend. The Pioneer Airport and airspace is private and controls a wedge of Airspace within a class D airport (Wittman Regional) by the EAA. It is probably the only airport like it in the world. EAA encourages our chapter to bring displays to attract others to the sport of Light Plane Aviation. Again this year our chapter will be hosting the competition events. Thank you Dan Marlenga for coordinating this fun filled event.

A few volunteers are still needed to help with set up, tear down, and judging of the Flight Log competition events. Contact Dan at 359-7377. The volunteer bunk house is available on a first come basis for our stay over, there is also plenty of space for camping in the bunkhouse area. Local hotels in the area, Americ Inn 920-232-0300 and Super 8 920-426-2885. Pioneer is one of the most enjoyable events of our flying season. Enjoy, meet up with old friends, make new friends, but most of all enjoy and keep safety the top priority.

Stevens Point

Do You Know This Pilot?

At Pioneer Day, find out who is on the rollout with the Mini Max

Dear Chapter UL 75,

2002 is a special year for EAA. Your 50th Convention will take place in Oshkosh from July 23-29. It will be an opportunity for us all to gather and celebrate aviation at its best, plus recognize the contributions EAA members have made over the last five decades. As we prepare for what I like to call "aviation's largest family reunion" I want to personally invite you to join us and be part of this exciting and historic week.

To me, 50 years signifies not only longevity, but also commitment. That's what all of us - 170,000 strong - have in common as EAA members. Our goal today is the same as it was when my father started EAA in 1953 - to promote homebuilding and recreational aviation, and to protect our right as citizens to fly. If you're a longtime EAA member, this is the year to come back and celebrate our past achievements and renew old friendships. If you're a relatively new member, "Oshkosh 2002" will provide insight on the culture and history of EAA.

If you've already decided to attend AirVenture 2002, you'll help to make the celebration better. I heartily invite you to join the festivities. If you haven't thought about it, please do. This year's Convention is loaded with moments you'll treasure - not just this year, but for years to come.

See you in July!

Sincerely,

Tom Poberezny
