Program: FAASTeam Seminar

Conventional gear aircraft, affectionately known as taildraggers, present unique challenges for the pilots who fly them. Understanding those challenges and being equipped with the best techniques to meet them is the key to a long and accident free career flying “real” airplanes. At this seminar, J.D. Williams (CFII, retired F16 pilot, current airline Captain, and enthusiastic taildragger owner) will share his tips and techniques for keeping the tail behind the prop when piloting conventional gear aircraft.
