- Chapter Fall Picnic The all too common weather for our fall picnic at Fred's hanger could not keep hungry members away. But it did keep the airplanes away. The METAR says it all...

date picked before the Packers schedule was out...

Several of us at the picnic spent some time marveling that only a week prior, we had braved 92F and high humidity at the Grassroots Fly-in at Brodhead. What a difference a week can make, and nature has let us know in no uncertain terms that summer is over. It also marked at least the third time this year that we got to run the A/C and the furnace during the same week!

"I vividly recall those days back when we had four seasons in Wisconsin"

Welcome to the September Flypaper! As I sit here at my computer typing out my monthly rant, basking in the glow of a Packers victory over the Redskins, I can't help but reminisce about my childhood in Wisconsin. I vividly recall those days back when we had four seasons in Wisconsin, and when spring and fall gently transitioned us between the two extreme seasons. This last week has really thrown that memory into stark contrast. Earlier today, about 25 chapter members braved the 59F and rain to make it out to the annual Burlington Float-Plane Fly-in, otherwise known as the Chapter 18 fall picnic. The event was quite well attended, despite the weather and the unfortunate fact that, due to some very poor planning by your board, we scheduled the picnic during a Packers game. In our defense, we had the

Speaking of the passage of time, this past Tuesday September 10th marked the first anniversary of the passing of former Chapter 18'er Erik "Da Swede" Anderson. As cliché as it sounds, it is hard to believe that it has been a year since that awful day. A few of us got together at a local watering hole to hoist a few cold ones in Swede's memory, in what I suspect will become an annual tradition.

As summer fades into fall, it means it is time to start planning for the fall schedule of chapter events. One of the most important is the October banquet, once again to be held at Clifford's Supper Club in Hales Corners. The date for this year's gala will be Tuesday October 22nd. Doors open for drinks at 6:00PM, with dinner served at 7:00PM. Back by popular demand, door prize chairman Joe will be doling out the door prizes (just in time for Christmas re-gifting.) Come to think of it, I have yet to assemble the kitty-cat puzzle that I won last year. Better get on that soon. Also, by popular demand, fish will be added to the family-style dinner menu (Clifford's has a fantastic Friday fish fry for those who are interested.) Tickets are $24 a person or $48 for a couple (what a bargain!) You can pay Steph at the September meeting or mail her the money, but she needs to have a head count at least a couple of weeks before the dinner.

We have a couple of other events to plan for in the coming months as well. In November, the annual chapter elections are going to be held. The positions of president and treasurer are both going to be up for grabs this year, as the incumbents have served their sentences and are due to be released. Several board positions will be up for election as well. I encourage anyone who has an interest or even curiosity about serving the chapter as an officer to contact me or one of the other board members. These officer positions are important, and we cannot exist as an organization (legally speaking) without someone in those positions, so it is critical that someone steps up.

The September chapter meeting will be at the usual place and time on Tuesday September 24th. For the program this month, Chris Esselstyn will be doing an extended project report on his one-of-a-kind, twin turbine powered self-launch glider. Chris last gave us an update on this unique project a couple of years ago, and knowing Chris, he has made a lot of progress in those couple of years. Should make for an interesting evening.

So, I look forward to seeing you all on the 24th for the chapter meeting. Until then, keep your airspeed up and your furnace filters clean.

Supporting Aviation's Future The Gathering's impact on EAA youth initiatives

September 19, 2013 - This year's Gathering of Eagles fundraising event at EAA AirVenture Oshkosh brought together the aviation industry and private aviation enthusiasts to support aviation's future. The event raised $2.679 million, and after expenses, EAA will invest approximately $2.17 million in its youth programs. The Gathering is presented by Cessna Aircraft Company.

Each year, EAA invests more than $3.3 million in youth education and programs, including the Young Eagles Flight Plan. And it's working; nearly 19,000 of today's pilots under age 35 are former Young Eagles.

Mentoring aviation's future pilots, homebuilders, engineers, mechanics, and designers is necessary to build a vibrant and growing aviation community. As Sean D. Tucker said when he was introduced as the new Young Eagles chairman during this year's Gathering of Eagles, "These kids are our legacy!"

Young Eagles Program Reaches Another Milestone

The EAA Young Eagles program reached new heights recently when the 1.8 millionth Young Eagle took flight.

The program owes much of its continued success to all of the volunteer pilots across the globe who give these young men and women their first experience with flight. For some it is just a good time and a new experience, but for others it sparks dreams and leads them down a path of aviation.

Young Eagles flights are free for children ages 8-17 participating in the program, which is generously sponsored by Phillips 66.

EAA receives many letters from both parents and former Young Eagles thanking us for providing an (extremely) affordable means of exploring aviation. Many of these Young Eagles went on to become aviators, and some now even make their living flying.

The flight is just the first step in the EAA Young Eagles Flight Plan, which helps guide aspiring aviators on their journey to becoming a certificated pilot.

EAA thanks the countless volunteers for the continued success of this great program and hopes to reach the 2 million mark soon!
