Ed Hannaford has two EAA calendars left and is willing to let them go for $10. See Ed.

Here's an invitation from St. Lazare Flying Club:

ASLFC Recency meeting

The Aeroclub St. Lazare Flying Club will hold its annual recency meeting on Wednesday March 4, 2020 and EAA Chapter 266 members and family are cordially invited to join us. If possible, would you please publish the details in the coming Chapter newsletter and I'll try to remember to make an announcement at this coming Thursday's Chapter meeting.

Aeroclub Saint-Lazare Flying Club: Recency Meeting

Date: Wednesday March 4, 2020

Time: Gather at 18:00, supper at 19:00

Location: Bar Chez Maurice, 1897 Ste. Angelique, St. Lazare, J7T 2Y2

The seminar will be conducted by Pierre Senneville and all required materials will be provided, all you need is a pen.

This will be an opportunity for members of both club's to get together in a pleasant and friendly atmosphere, enjoy a good meal, chat about aviation and make sure that we're ready for the coming summer flying season.

That's all for now!

Mike Lustig

President, EAA 266

A word from our EditorRichard Guevara

Things happen in the strangest ways...

My son belongs to a theatre group that recently moved to a community centre in the point: Bâtiment 7. After dropping him off, I was hanging around the centre, so I decided to wander around while I waited for him. I followed the noise of wood being cut to find a fully furnished wood shop being used by two or three people. Some guy with a big beard came over (later found out he was a volunteer and cabinet maker) and introduced himself and gave me a tour of the shop. Turns out they give courses on woodworking and allow people to use the shop for a nominal fee. All the shop equipment and some of the expertise I was lacking was there. Wow. I chatted a bit then continued around the centre. Upstairs I found a full metal shop that was run by another volunteer and was "pay as you play" just like the woodshop. Wow again – talk about opportunity knocking.

In last month's issue I misspelled the phrase "In memoriam" with respect to Ron Uloth. The mistake is deeply regretted.
