

The Frederick Flyer

President's Message

Greetings, EAA Chapter 524 Members and Friends,

Your board members are working on ways to attract more youth to aviation and our Chapter.

The Cub project has created much interest and brought a few younger folks to the Chapter. The SportAir workshops have been successful also. We are also looking towards the Young Eagle program to help with that task. Sporty's offers an online ground school study course for the recreational ticket. AOPA also has a great program to spark the interest in flying. EAA National has several programs to get youth in the left seat of Light Sport aircraft and gliders.

We at EAA Chapter 524 have started a scholarship program mostly fueled by our 50/50 event at Chapter meetings. I would also like to encourage straight-out donations to that fund. We are a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization so you may use your donation as a deduction on your taxes. We have an offer from a generous individual, who wants to remain anonymous, to evenly match all funds donated this year to the scholarship fund. We are very appreciative of the generosity of all who donate to this cause.

There are two Chapter members on the scholarship committee who will be in charge of the the program. We should have the structure in place to offer two scholarships for continued aviation opportunities in 2019 for young people.

I for one am very excited to get this program off the ground both for our Chapter's Education Program and to help youth in our community to advance their opportunities in aviation!

Wishing you clear skies,

Mark Gosselin

November Program

We are pleased and honored to have none other than Charlie Becker present to us November 1st. Besides being a former chapter member, Charlie is EAA's Director for Chapters and Communities. In that capacity, he oversees the organizations chapter network and homebuilt programs. He is also president of Chapter 252 in Oshkosh, WI. Charlie has built a Sonex, and currently has two other aircraft under construction. Very few are as qualified to discuss the subject of homebuilding, so this is your chance to hear all about getting started in homebuilding.

As a close friend of Doug Kelly, we hope to see Doug there as well and get an update on this long-time friend of the chapter.

Mark Pankratz

October Program Recap

For our October program, Mark Pankratz had arranged for a visit to a very special vintage aircraft that happened to be residing in the adjacent hangar row – Howard Wilson's Rose Parrakeet. Howard first gave a presentation in our hangar on the history of the type in general and his aircraft in particular, serial number 103. This was the fourth aircraft manufactured and is one of only a very few originals still in existence, much less flying. After his talk, we walked over to his hangar to admire his beautiful restoration. He has a nice display set up in the hangar to show visitors the details about the history of this model and his restoration.
