CHAPTER 54 MEETING: MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1987 7:30 p.m. RENWICKS' HOUSE

Dear Chapter 54 Members and Friends:

Don't Forget that the meeting this month is at our house. If you can find your way to the intersection of 494 and France Ave. S., the enclosed map will get you the rest of the way. Call us if you get lost. The main feature of the meeting will be a teleconference with EAA Senior Project Engineer Dick Roemer. Dick will give a ten minute presentation on auto fuel STCs, and will spend an additional 10 - 20 minutes answering member questions. This part of the meeting is scheduled to begin promptly at 8:00, so please be early. Spouses/guests are welcome.

FROM HEADQUARTERS:

DIXIELAND ANYONE? During the last EAA convention, Jim Ash of the Wisconsin Bureau of Aeronautics organized an impromptu Dixieland jazz band on the EAA convention site. They played at a number of informal get-togethers and in the campground. This year, Jim would like to bring the combo back and expand its ranks. Any Dixieland aficionados who would like to bring their instruments to the convention and play under the stars should contact Henry (the piano man) Ogrodzinski at HQ. He will need to know what days you are attending the Convention and what instrument you play.

EAA CHAPTER YOUTH MEETING Where are the aviators of tomorrow? Those who are fortunate enough to live in the household of an EAA Chapter member or another family active in aviation have a distinct advantage. However, most young people who are interested in aviation today are not so lucky. They are separated from pursuing their dreams of flight by an inhospitable wire-topped fence, padlocked gates and security guards at airports near their home. In the near future, EAA Aviation Foundation Education Director Chuck Larsen will be providing all EAA Chapters with information which will help the Chapters provide the opportunity for young people to enjoy aviation today and help them grow into tomorrow's aviation leaders. The information package, which will soon be received by all Chapters, will demonstrate how easy it is to organize a meeting to encourage the young people of your community to become part of your EAA Chapter and the future of aviation. Without EAA's Chapters, we can't succeed in this or any other attempt to support and perpetuate our aviation heritage.
