Air Adventure Day Needs Recruits

Boys and girls, ages 12-18, are needed to participate in Chapter 54's Air Adventure Day, scheduled for Saturday, June 29, from 8:30 am-5:00 pm. If each member recruited one young person, the Air Adventure Day would be a great success. Everyone certainly has a neighbor, nephew, niece, or other relative or acquaintance that he or she can ask to come to the Air Adventure Day. Posting a sign somewhere is fine, but it won't produce the results that personal contact can. A flyer/sign-up sheet has been enclosed with each newsletter. Please use it to encourage someone you know to come.

Convention Volunteers Wanted

Volunteers are the heart of EAA's accomplishments. EAA Convention volunteers share the adventures of the world's most significant aviation event. Regardless of your skill or experience level, your volunteer efforts make a difference and are greatly appreciated. Please consider volunteering some of your time this year.

Loran Gap Closed

Aviation officials dedicated a new Loran-C transmitter last month that closes the midcontinent navigation gap that stretched more than 1,000 miles from Arizona to Arkansas. The new system was in place with the completion of the Loran-C tower in Las Cruces, N.M., which recently began operating.
