What's been going on:

We had a virtual board meeting on April 21st. We used Zoom and it went ok. We discussed rearranging our events to account for the COVID shutdown. We will be postponing our May flying start event and will try to schedule it four to six weeks after we hear of the reopening. We will also be postponing our spring breakfast at Fulton County Airport until we have a better idea of what's going on. As soon as we do hear it is safe to have a social get together we will be having another potluck cookout at Fulco so we can all stretch our wings and catch up with one another.

For this coming meeting April 28th we will attempt a Zoom meeting. Zoom is an online way to video conference several people at once. I will be sending out details in an email. If you have not received information by April 27th then reach out to a board member. I am going to ask for phone hosts so that people who are able to connect to Zoom can host a person that is not able to by hosting them on speaker phone so they do not miss out. Let me know if you would like to call in by phone or can be a host so I can pair people up. I will be hosting the meeting from my hangar and doing a quick presentation on owner assisted annuals.

UPCOMING:

- Stay tuned for a post isolation BBQ.
- The new website will be updated over the next month to a condition that will hopefully exceed what it was before the transition.
- Our annual aviation scholarship is available if you know anyone that is interested please spread the word. It is available to local high school seniors that are going on to any aviation related field. Details will be posted to the website.

Try to learn from the mistakes of others. You won't live long enough to make them all yourself.

Well we are now going into our 2nd month of social distancing. This is tough for all of us and I hope and pray that all of you are well and hanging in there. I miss all my EAA friends and am hopeful we will get back to meeting this summer at NYO with some great meals by Mike, John, Debbie and Andrew.

I have still been getting ahead on projects at my moms, our beach on GSL, and at home. I have not yet flown the hawk this year, but hope to be airborne before next month's newsletter.

I have found a couple of interesting aviation videos and YouTube channels that may be of general interest to the membership as we practice our social distancing! First, is a documentary about the Ford Willow run plant, which built B-24s in WWII. By the end of the war, they were producing these large bombers at a rate faster than one per hour. Truly amazing! I have sent a link to the other officers, but if you search on willow run plant and B-24 from the YouTube search, you will find it. This makes me feel that no matter how bad this pandemic gets we will find a way to come out on the other side better off than we were before.

The other one, I find interesting is a European 737 pilot that has done a bunch of videos about flying. There are some that are pretty basic, but others are more interesting and geared toward pilots and aviation enthusiasts. His youtube handle is Mentour pilot. He actually gets some time in a full simulator and walks through various flight scenarios.

Well that's all for this month, take care, be well, and see you soon!
